

Community Representation

Part 1/2 - Australia office

Comparison of the five most common languages of the selected cohort with the top five languages according to local census data

Note: The five most common languages in Australia, based on latest census, were English, Mandarin Chinese, Arabic, Vietnamese, and Yue / Cantonese Chinese. The Australia office matched one language out of the five (English).

Comparison of the five most common countries of birth of the selected cohort with the top five countries of birth according to local census data

Note: The five most common countries of birth in Australia were Australia, United Kingdom, India, China, and New Zealand. The Australia office matched three countries out of the five (Australia, United Kingdom, and New Zealand).

■ Your organisation

■ Census

Part 1/2 - Australia office

Comparison of the five most common ancestral heritages of the selected cohort with the top five ancestral heritages according to local census data

Note: The five most common ancestries in Australia were English, Australian, Irish, Scottish, and Chinese. The Australia office matched four ancestries out of the five (English, Australian, Irish, Scottish).

Compare the five most common religion / worldviews of the selected cohort with the top five religion / worldviews according to local census data

Note: The five most common worldviews in Australia were Christianity, No Worldview, Prefer not to Answer, Islam (Muslim), and Buddhism. The Australia office matched three worldviews out of the five (Christianity, No Worldview, and Prefer not to Answer).

■ Your organisation    ■ Census

Community Representation

Part 2/2 – United Kingdom office

Comparison of the five most common languages of the selected cohort with the top five languages according to local census data

Note: The five most common languages in United Kingdom, based on latest census, were English, French, German, Spanish, and Urdu. The United Kingdom office matched four languages out of the five (English, French, German, and Spanish).

Comparison of the five most common countries of birth of the selected cohort with the top five countries of birth according to local census data

Note: The five most common countries of birth in United Kingdom were United Kingdom, India, Poland, Pakistan, and Romania. The United Kingdom office matched one country out of the five (United Kingdom)

■ Your organisation

■ Census

Part 2/2 – United Kingdom office

Comparison of the five most common ancestral heritages of the selected cohort with the top five ancestral heritages according to local census data

20%

Note: The five most common ancestries in United Kingdom were British, Black British, Afro-Caribbean, Indian, and Chinese. The United Kingdom office matched one ancestry out of the five (British).

Compare the five most common religion / worldviews of the selected cohort with the top five religion / worldviews according to local census data

40%

Note: The five most common worldviews in United Kingdom were Christianity, No Worldview, Islam (Muslim), Hinduism, and Other Religions. The United Kingdom office matched two worldviews out of the five (Christianity and No Worldview).

■ Your organisation   ■ Census